Traveller children witnessing domestic violence -
Multi agency challenges to providing support

Workshop
Conference Report

30th September 2009
Waterfoot Hotel, L’Derry
Introduction

The following report is drawn from the “Traveller children witnessing domestic violence – multi agency challenges to providing support” workshop held 30th September 2009, Waterfoot Hotel, L’Derry.

The event was organised by NSPCC NI Local Campaigning in partnership with the Western Education & Library Board Traveller Education Department. Funding support for the workshop was made available by the Northern Ireland Policing Board Human Rights & Professional Standards Committee and the Community Engagement Committee and many thanks is given for this support.

Last year the Human Rights and Professional Standards Committee completed a thematic inquiry examining the way in which the PSNI deal with the issue of domestic abuse. A report of the inquiry was published in March 2009 and the issue continues to be a matter of ongoing interest to Members. The Committee is currently undertaking a thematic inquiry into policing with children and young people from a human rights perspective and hopes that this conference report will help inform that ongoing work. Given the obvious linkages between the work being undertaken by the NSPCC and the Committee’s completed work and its ongoing thematic inquiry, the Committee were happy to provide funding to support the workshop.

We would also like to acknowledge the significant role of the following Traveller support agencies, for their contribution to the development and successful delivery of the workshop:

Derry Traveller Support Group
Donegal Travellers Project
Pavee Point Project Dublin
Background to development of the Traveller children witnessing domestic violence workshop

The NSPCC with partner agencies ran a multi-agency Foyle domestic violence (DV) campaign with the aim of highlighting the impact of witnessing DV on children and young people, November 08. Materials were developed to support professionals to engage with non abusing parents on this issue and gave advice on how parents might deal with this. From the campaign events requests for specific additional work on the issue came to the NSPCC via health and educational professionals, including those working with Traveller families. It was felt after initial discussions between the Local Campaigning Co-ordinator (LCC) both internally NSPCC and with external partners, in particular the WELB Traveller Teacher department, that a focus on the additional challenges that arise from supporting children witnessing domestic violence in the Traveller community would necessitate a piece of awareness raising work on its own. To this end the LCC and external partners met and drew up a workshop proposal as an appropriate response.

It was intended that the workshop would provide a focus for and gather information from key stakeholders from the statutory and voluntary sectors as well as Traveller community representation. It was proposed that by holding this event and capturing the discussion and the sharing of information this workshop report would be written up to help inform developments on this issue. The Traveller community have identified good practice for working on the issue of domestic violence and this would be an opportunity to hear from representatives from the Traveller community and initiate work in this area. The need for this event was also evidenced by a number of research reports on the issues of domestic violence and/or the Traveller community, which indicated both interagency working across sectors and Traveller community involvement as key to developing good practice responses to providing services.

Meetings took place with Traveller support groups in the Derry and Donegal areas to discuss the potential usefulness of the workshop and the Pavee Point Project, Dublin was contacted to help inform the development from a national perspective. Pavee Point had already developed Violence Against Women (VAW) work within a Traveller context and is cited in the UK as one of the leading groups working on this issue. They agreed as did the other Traveller support projects to become involved in the project, as was essential for its success.
Media involvement

Given the sensitive nature of the workshop it was agreed to minimise external publicity so as to give space for all participants to take part freely and fully.

Key agency involvement

The following are the key local agencies that were involved in consultation for the event – NSPCC Domestic Abuse & Recovery Support Service, WELB Traveller Support Teachers, Derry Traveller Support Group, PSNI Domestic Abuse Unit Foyle, Donegal Traveller Support Group, Toybox Early Years, Foyle Women’s Aid, Western Health & Social Care Trust (WHSCT) Health Visiting, Derry Well Woman and partners cross border, Donegal Women’s Donegal Violence Service.

Research

When researching for the event the NSPCC Local Campaigns Co-ordinator found a dearth of similar events with the first national UK conference for Traveller women experiencing domestic violence only held in May 2009. A small workshop on Traveller domestic violence and child protection had been held in Scotland 2005 but otherwise little activity had occurred on this issue.

Workshop audience

The workshop was publicised through local contacts to agencies working either with the Traveller community or providing services to children. The workshop was booked out in advance of the event, indicating the interest in the area. A list of agencies represented at the day are in Appendix 3. It is recognised that given the time limit planning the event that a more inclusive approach could be developed in subsequent activities. However all key agencies were consulted with and agreement sought to support the workshops aims and objectives.
Information on the Traveller community and domestic violence

Since the workshop was planned significant research became available on the issue in the UK with “Inequalities experienced by Gypsy and Traveller communities: A review” by Cemlyn, Greenfields, Burnett, Matthews & Whitwell. This report has a dedicated chapter on domestic violence as well as Traveller experiences of social work departments.

In addition a report from the first national conference “Supporting Gypsies & Travellers living with Domestic Violence” held 8 May 2009, Holloway Resource Centre, London is available online, with key learning outcomes identified. At this conference a leaflet “Supporting Gypsies and Travellers living with Domestic Violence” was launched, available on the Friends Families and Travellers website. Another recent conference held October 2009 “London Irish Travelling Women and Domestic Violence – Meeting Needs and Challenging Prejudices” shows increased focus on the issue.

As may be seen, the above named conferences mainly focus on women experiencing domestic violence, as opposed to the focus on children witnessing domestic violence workshop that took place in Foyle September 2009. It must be acknowledged that the two are critically inter-related when dealing with domestic violence.
Aims & Objectives of Workshop

Aim

The aim of the event is to explore and identify the issues facing both agencies and the Traveller Community when concerns of the impact of witnessing domestic violence by Traveller children arise.

Objectives

In furtherance of this aim the following objectives will be addressed.

1. To bring together key agency and community representatives who work with the Traveller community in relation to children and domestic violence issues.

2. To identify common problems and themes that emerges from practice when agencies respond to the needs of the Traveller community in relation to domestic violence and in particular in supporting the children and young people.

3. To hear views/experiences from the Traveller Community of how agencies dealing with domestic violence engage with them and in particular when supporting victims and their children.

4. To identify the myths and assumptions that are held about the Traveller Community and their experience of domestic violence.

5. To identify potential solutions to enhance the relationship between agencies representing the Traveller Community and statutory agencies when domestic violence and child welfare are of concern.

6. To organise a workshop addressing the issues above; furthermore providing a written report with recommendations with the aim of acting as a catalyst for development of work in this area.

Multi & single agency responses

- Consistency of approach - all statutory agencies involved i.e. key workers – same problems always seem to come back to Traveller groups
- Multi agency approach
- Long term staff (trust)
- Voluntary agencies need to be involved equally – they are hands on
- Don’t duplicate work
- Review of policies and procedures
- More focus on child regardless of the fact they are Travellers and his/her rights respected, educated and protected
- Dedicated workers within agencies
- If Travellers not accessing generic services need to critically examine what the barriers are and what changes need to be make in that way that the service is delivered
- Protection and safety sensitively looked at
- Multi agency approach to case conferences
- Service user feedback

Strategy

- Co-ordinate a shared approach to how best to work with the Traveller community
- Shared objectives
- Strategy to be outlined for multi agency approach
- Consistency of involvement for group working on strategy not always chaired by statutory agencies
- Cross border co-operation for jurisdiction issues
- Recognition that this process is ongoing and not temporary one off
- Cannot concentrate on “crisis” - work must develop other interventions

Resources

- NIHE appropriate housing for Travellers
- Travellers educated reference resources available
- Seek and allocate appropriate resources to work in partnership with Traveller communities
- One stop shop for Travellers – however risk of creating a segregated service would need to be addressed
- Making generic services more accessible for Traveller community, eg Primary Health Care model in RoI

Training

- No ‘tick box’ training
- Education and awareness training – multi agency training
- Change attitude in many organisations re diversity
- Interagency training with focus on domestic violence and Traveller lead

Discussion of highlighted risk ensured
Plenary Session overview

All chairpersons fed back on a specific question to give a sense of the variety of discussion themes and experiences in the room.

At the end of this feedback the Chair Ms Phil Mahon gave a concluding overview of the key issues she felt had been presented in the room during the course of the day.

Ms Mahon highlighted the calls for better communication between agencies providing services to the Traveller community and in particular regarding Traveller children in need of support. She also highlighted the potential for enhancing these relationships on the ground and training opportunities identified. Ms Mahon concluded by thanking all those that had presented at the event and also those that had attended for their attention to the workshop questions and the quality of the feedback given. She informed those attending that recommendations from the day would be circulated when completed to all those in attendance and looked forward to this.
Workshop Recommendations

Following are the key themes to come out from the workshop from participants. It is recognised that whilst some recommendations are domestic violence specific others may relate to other more general Traveller community issues as well as Traveller children safeguarding themes:

Research

1. Research on the issue of Traveller children/families experiencing domestic violence in Northern Ireland carried out as gap has been identified
2. A baseline of information gathered with and from the Traveller community to inform service development on this issue

Engagement/inclusion

1. Traveller involvement in all processes and developments in this area in a meaningful and equal way.
2. Traveller views/experiences of the services currently offered sought - and for this consultation process to become an ongoing process when developing new services/policies.
3. Facilities/services delivered in venues close to and comfortable for the Traveller community to use, neutral venues. Risks may be considered.
4. Greater interface with representatives and individuals from Traveller community and groups wherever possible.
5. Review agency’s experiences of delivering services to Traveller community and vice versa.
6. Positive role models male and female from the Traveller community to support this work identified.
7. Ensuring of equality of service for Traveller children and families experiencing domestic violence.
Strategy

1. A strategy to deliver better outcomes for Traveller women and children experiencing domestic violence developed and agency commitment to this.

2. An overarching multi agency strategy is developed to address all the safeguarding needs of Traveller children in Northern Ireland – not just DV specific.

3. Clear measurement of service outcomes for the Traveller community in relation to service delivery and the quality of these.

4. Develop opportunities within existing fora to take forward recommendations and keep momentum from the workshop.

5. Clarity of links between existing domestic violence fora and Traveller forums – review existing groups and develop/amend to fit new strategy on this issue.

Multi agency work

1. Clarity on agencies roles and clear pathways for information sharing and multi agency working on the issue of domestic violence and other safeguarding themes, whilst protecting confidentiality

2. Key agencies such as PSNI, Social Services, Education have consistency of approach on the issue and policies, procedures developed appropriate to the Traveller experience with their engagement

3. Dedicated, named, appropriately trained staff to liaise with the Traveller community identified within all agencies to develop more trusting long-term relationships

4. Engage statutory sectors across the board on this issue from primary health care, to LAC, GPs, child protection, schools, police, domestic violence service providers, housing providers etc.
Training and resource development

1. Training across the board on Traveller culture specifically, and more generally on diversity and anti oppressive practice
2. Development of Traveller appropriate resources to deal with the issue of domestic violence.
3. Development of Traveller appropriate education programmes on healthy relationships and keeping safe information for children and young people
4. Development of a programme to engage non abusing parent to raise awareness of the impact of witnessing domestic violence on their children
5. Traveller awareness training pre qualification for all relevant agencies ie PSNI, health etc, to become core training
7. Information sharing/awareness raising opportunities like this workshop in the future identified and resourced.

Services

1. Identify issues affecting current service delivery of adult and of children’s domestic violence services from agency and Traveller user perspectives
2. Traveller appropriate information services available in or near their locality and access to them be developed / informed by Traveller feedback
3. Review existing provision for Traveller children and young people to have a safe place to speak about their experiences or to seek help
4. Development response to address under 4’s witnessing domestic violence and in particular support to pregnant Traveller women experiencing domestic violence including Early Years services, midwifery, health visitor support and GP’s.
5. Address potential responses to Traveller children witnessing domestic violence requiring appropriate support in schools, health service, community with all key agencies
6. Review potential of Community Health Model support for Traveller community already established in RoI for development and roll out in NI. Given that without a Traveller health infrastructure which enables training, development and employment of Traveller women and men on this and a range of safeguarding and wider health issues, progress will be difficult.
Funding

1. Funding continue for current projects supporting work in this area.
2. Funding from a variety of sources identified to meet needs outlined throughout the workshop recommendations.

Additional issues

1. Development of enhanced cross border co-operation on Traveller issues and in particular child protection issues including domestic violence.
2. Promote positive images of the Traveller community where possible particularly in the media.
3. Evidence of need for opportunities to develop relationships with whole Traveller community not just in relationship to children witnessing domestic violence issue.
4. Best practice and information sharing continue to take place and where appropriate made available to agencies on an accessible website.
5. Review of all Ireland Ethnic Identification process for the Traveller community to enhance information on the needs of Travellers. Training to support staff to use this questionnaire effectively and sensitively (R of Ireland)
6. Consider adopting similar approach to work with other Ethnic Minority groups in Northern Ireland, mindful that each community has their own cultural characteristics and a “one size fits all” approach may not work. Again placing Ethnic Minority needs and voices at the centre of the work.

Donegal Travellers Project

Donegal Travellers Project is a voluntary non-governmental organisation which is committed to the attainment of human rights for Irish Travellers. The group is a partnership of Travellers and the majority population working together to address the racism and exclusion Travellers experience in society. It has been involved in direct work with Travellers since 1997.

Primary Health Care Project

- Equality in health for Travellers
- Ten years in existence
- Seven Travellers employed with funding from the Health Service Executive
- Work at a number of different levels, including: grassroots work with Traveller families Partnership work with agencies

Historical records show that Travellers have been both present and unwanted in Irish society since at least the 12th century

Deputy O’Donnell, TD, Dail Eireann 1944

“tramps and gypsies who go round in caravans touring the country... these beggars are a nuisance. These tramps on the roads here... do not seem to bother very much about birth control. I saw three generations of such children; they marry very young and breed like rabbits ....These young boys and girls do not go to school and there is no earthly chance of doing anything with them.”

Mary Ellen Synon Jan 26th 1996, Sunday Independent

“is a life of appetite ungoverned by intellect...... it is a life worse than the life of beasts, for beasts at least are guided by wholesome instinct. Traveller life is without the ennobling intellect of man or the steadying instinct of animals. This tinker “culture” is without achievement, discipline, reason or intellectual ambition. It is a morass. And one of the surprising things about it is that not every individual bred in this swamp turns out bad. Some individuals among the tinkers find the will not to become evil.”

BREAKING THE SILENCE ON VIOLENCE AGAINST TRAVELLER WOMEN
The report of the Task Force on Violence Against Women (1995) states:

“That the inequalities experienced by women generally are also experienced by Traveller women. In addition, Traveller women suffer discrimination experienced by Travellers as a group in Irish society.”

Traveller Health, A National Strategy 2002-2005:

“While the situation for all women who have to leave their home in search of a violence-free life is difficult, Traveller women experience additional dilemmas which make it more difficult for them to access help and support and explore their options. This is brought about by a combination of discrimination in services and professions (institutional and individual) and a lack of culturally appropriate provision.”

The Sexual Abuse and Violence in Ireland (SAVI) Report, 2002, states:

“In order to achieve more culturally appropriate services (for Traveller women), the provision of training to increase both awareness and skills amongst service providers is needed. This should include awareness-raising regarding racist attitudes.”

WORK SO FAR …

- Awareness raising, education, solidarity
- Donegal Travellers Project has undertaken training in the area of Violence Against Women – two full day’s training attended by 18 women who work in the project
- Traveller women involved in campaigns on Violence Against Women – candlelit vigil, coffee mornings, press releases
- Workshops & information sessions delivered by staff in Donegal women’s refuge
- Traveller woman participating on the management committee of Donegal Women’s Refuge

Continued…

- Leaflet designed on supports and services available to Traveller women experiencing violence
- Design and delivery of culturally appropriate training to a range of service providers
- Training delivered to Gardai, social work teams and to staff in Donegal women’s refuge
- Over 400 HSE employees have attended training to date
- The training delivered is based on feminist, anti-racist and human rights principles.

Focus on children

- Youth programme, creche, afterschool service, pre-school
- Up to 100 children and young people supported through these programmes
- Family support sub group established with the Health service to look at supports needed for children where there is a crisis or a child protection issue - focus in on prevention
- All community health workers have completed child protection training with the HSE
Support for young people, aged 16 upwards who have left home due to violence and become homeless as a result

- Direct support for children from homes where there is domestic violence – places made available in the creche in a small number of cases where there has been a referral by the court or by social work team
- Development work with young Travellers around a range of issues including self esteem, anger management and sexism

Some lessons learned…..

- Single factor or simplified explanations of the nature and extent of violence against Traveller women and children are inaccurate and often ignore the complex and multiple effects of racism, poverty and disadvantage
- Approaches need to be multi-dimensional and must involve Travellers themselves
- Traveller women and children experience violence at the individual level but also often institutional violence, for example, where they are subject to eviction or where there is inequality in the application of child protection legislation
- Challenging myths that violence against Traveller women and children is a cultural norm is an ongoing part of addressing Violence Against women in the Traveller community

Travellers - Ethnic Group

- An involuntary group (i.e. one is born into it) that sees itself and is seen by others as different. Members share a common ancestry, culture, history, traditions and sense of belonging or peoplehood.
Traveller children witnessing domestic violence - Multi agency challenges to providing support

Travellers - Ethnic Group

- “[In Ireland] the single most discriminated against ethnic group is the Travelling People.”
- European Parliament Committee on Racism and Xenophobia 1981
- A UK court ruled in August 2000 Irish Travellers are an ethnic group.
- Ireland still does not recognise Irish Travellers as MEG.

Population and Distribution

- 22,435 Travellers
- 62% under 25, 42% under 15
- 2.6% over 65
- Only 25 Travellers over 85 years

Objectives of VAW Programme

- To empower Traveller women to develop an analysis of the dynamics of VAW.
- To create a framework for networking and sharing analysis on the issues of VAW in the Traveller community.
- To develop policy material for the empowering of local Traveller groups and service providers.
- To develop training materials for use with local Traveller groups and service providers.
- To challenge Traveller men on the issues of VAW in the Traveller community.
- To explore and document Traveller women’s collective experiences of VAW.
- To create a context for a more diverse policy agenda for the development and implementation of VAW initiatives that are inclusive of Traveller women.

Policy Context

- “The inequalities experienced by women generally are also experienced by Traveller women. In addition, Traveller women suffer from discrimination experienced by Travellers as a group in Irish society.”

Policy

- “While the situation for all women who have to leave their home in search of a violence-free life is difficult, Traveller women experience additional dilemmas which make it more difficult for them to access help and support and explore their options. This is brought about by a combination of discrimination in services and professions (institutional and individual) and a lack of culturally appropriate provision.”
Policy

- "In order to achieve more culturally appropriate services (for Traveller women), the provision of training to increase both awareness and skills amongst service providers is needed. This should include awareness raising regarding racist attitudes". The Sexual Abuse and Violence in Ireland (SAW) Report 2002

Interculturalism and Anti-racism

- "A service that challenges racism at the individual and institutional level will ensure that Travellers have a visibility within planning and provision. Providers will be sensitive to issues of discrimination and their impact and to the potential for their service to discriminate. Provision will be rooted in an affirmation of Traveller identity and will seek to contribute to improving the wider context within which Travellers live”

Equality Steps to raise awareness of equal outcomes for Travellers
- Equality proof all decisions to ensure the address rather than aggregate racism
- Track take up and outcomes for MEGO through collection of data and adapt services based on this info to improve outcomes for these groups
- Put mechanism in place to consult and work in partnership with groups and rep orgs to remove barriers and improve service
- Seek and allocate the necessary resources

Culturally Appropriate Services

CA service are designed to minimise exclusion, support identity, promote respect and inclusive practice:
- Using Traveller images, toys (offering esp locals accommodation, schools)
- Understanding of Traveller culture
- CA service development collaboration with Traveller women and orgs
- Support services respect and reflect cultural difference in design and delivery of services

Some of what we do know for Traveller women and children
- Discrimination and racism is a daily experience
- Difficulty for Traveller women to disclose VAW
- "Disenfranchised in refuges" Not feeling welcome Policy on children - staff/client
- Intermarriage and close knit families - and -
- Leaving relationship - teasing community
- Barring orders on housing site - Use
- Travellers not all the same - different needs
- Accommodation for Trav - VAW pressure

Womens Aid Roi 2009 Report

- 201 minority callers from total of 10,140 calls
- 77% Migrant women
- 23% Disabled women
- 6% Traveller women
“Challenging the Misconceptions of VAW against MEW inc Travellers”

- Violence against women’s more prevalent in MEGs and is inherent in their culture.
- Support services and Gardai are easily accessible for women from MEGs.
- Information for women experiencing violence is available to all.
- Many women from MEGs do not challenge or resist violence against women within their communities.

Violence against women’s more prevalent in MEGs and is inherent in their culture.

- Key recommendations
- the need to develop culturally appropriate mainstream services which are accessible to MEW.
- Funders of the voluntary sector should provide additional resources to ME and other relevant organisations for the facilitation of MEWs participation in the community.

Gender based Violence of MEW in Ireland 2009 “Translating Pain into Action” WILC

MEDIA
Negative impact

Support services and Gardai are easily accessible for women from MEGs

- Belief that SWs take children away still exists
- History of mistrust and poor relations between Travellers and police
- Travellers lack confidence in police and the justice system
- Significant levels of dissatisfaction with overall Garda service (48% - Garda Survey 2007)
- Pattern emerges of over policing and under protection of Travellers
- Discrimination and previous bad experience

Information for women experiencing violence is available to all.

- Literacy
- Not culturally appropriate so do not feel it is for them
- Difficult legal system
- No access to information as not using services where it might be available.

Examples of what works

- Training module VAW For Trav ons
- Training with service providers
- Representation by Travellers at local regional and national level NSC, CPA, WHRANWCI and feed into international level CEDAW and IJWAV
- Traveller Counselling Service - CA
- Fostering /shared rearing service - CA
- Youth and VAW working together new project
- Mediation service - Local Garda clinics + results

Many women from MEGs do not challenge or resist violence against women within their communities.

- Do but not in an obvious way
New Youth Project

Project aims

- to develop a culturally appropriate training module for professionals (youth workers and primary health care teams) to deliver sexual and relationship education to Traveller young people and parents.
- to deliver a training of trainers to these professionals.
- to conduct a piece of research on Traveller attitudes to sexual relationships and sex education.

Factors inhibiting VAW response from Traveller orgs

- Traveller orgs are not resourced to do this work ie training staff, fear, lack of accurate info.
- VAW worker in community difficult role/backlash if something goes wrong.
- No Data. No systematic ethnic identifier.
- Fear of talking in community/training courses. Trouble for family?
- Lack of CA support from agencies.

Challenges 2009

- Change in personnel in services - based on individual relationships not institutional.
- Tick box training done - not implemented.
- Unwillingness to discuss the issue within the Traveller community but ... .
- Cut backs - non replacement in services.
- No funding for training of service providers.
- Cuts to Traveller programmes CDRs/PHCs.

Key Points

- Put mechanisms in place to consult and work in partnership with Travellers and Traveller organisation to remove barriers.
- Promote Traveller women’s participation in planning, development and implementation of VAW policies and practices.
- Acknowledge Traveller women as experts on VAW as it affects their lives.
- Integrate equality and diversity training for all staff.
- Reflect positive images of culture in your service.
- Recognise and plan for diversity.
- Develop specialist expertise towards Travellers and MEGs.
- Seek and allocate resources for this work.

Traveller Children

Poem

She’s Going Back

By Mary McKenna, Donegal Women’s Domestic Violence Service

“She’s going back” he told me
As I walked down the stairs
He stood with his back against the wall
In his eyes I saw his fear

Just a little boy aged 4
He was old beyond his years
Once more he’d seen his dad abuse his mammy
And the words of hate had assailed his ears

They came into the Refuge
Late at night and terrified
So numbed by what had happened
Neither of them could even cry

She was bruised and shaken
On his little cheek a mark so red
Both of them were so exhausted
They went up straight to bed

The next day she said she’d had enough
As the little boy stood and listened by the door
She wasn’t going back again
She wouldn’t take it anymore

Her phone it then began to ring
And he begged her to forgive
He never meant to hurt her
Without her he couldn’t live

This little boy he listened
As his mum then said it was time to go
Back home where Daddy was waiting
He’s so sad we left him all alone

He was too young to understand
The emotional blackmail his dad applied
Or to know the pressure his mum was under
All he knew was to him she lied

His face I still remember
His voice rings in my head
Just three words that showed his hurt and fear
“He’s going back” was all he said

(based on the life of a young Traveller boy using refuge services in Donegal)
